

Happy Friday!

100TH Day of School- Tuesday, we celebrate 100 days of learning and growth. We will be doing some 100th Day Fun activities to celebrate.

*Students may come to school dressed as a 100 year old 😊 or wear a decorated 100th Day of School shirt. There are many ideas on Pinterest or Google.

MATH: Continuing our unit on Division.

SOCIAL STUDIES: Finishing up our Unit on the Southeastern Region of the US. TEST on Monday- Map labeling/state abbreviation as well as land& water, climate, products & resources, landmarks, & culture.

LEARNING FAIR: Research! This project directly addresses:

- 🇺🇸 National pride
- 🤝 Unity across differences
- 🕊️ Equality and progress
- 💪 Resilience and perseverance
- 🌐 America's role on the global stage

The Olympics are not just competitions — they are a mirror of America's values, history, and identity. This project will use the Olympic Games as a lens to examine American unity, national pride, and historical progress, highlighting how Team USA moments reflect the ideals of 'America the Beautiful.'

READING LOGS:

WooHoo! We have quite the competition going amongst our class! We have tallied all the minutes so far through today and there is a close race between 1st and 2nd place with a few friends also very close to the top few. There is still time to read today and tomorrow to finish January strong!

* PLEASE remember, reading 20min daily at home is the minimum for ALL students 😊 whether participating in the monthly challenge or not. ALL students get grade credit for reading also. Reading at home is not a suggestion 😊 it's part of the curriculum.

🎨 ART - Last week we enjoyed spending time with our little Red Building Friends helping them create Melting Snowman Art! Check out the photos of this fun activity! LOVE watching our BIGS work with the Littles! Hearing the conversation and seeing those adorable smiles from all 😊
