

Thanksgiving Blessings to you and your family!

Here is the Homework list for next week:

Please Note: I have encouraged the kids to take 20-30 min. a day for learning and keeping concepts fresh in their minds 😊

We talked about the difference between getting it all done at once vs. taking time daily to complete their work.

Doing things daily helps keep it "fresh" in their minds and consistent. Please encourage them to set aside time daily for homework and READING.

The image shows a handwritten homework list on a whiteboard. The title "Homework" is written in a large, decorative font at the top. To the right of the title, the date "11/21" is circled. Below the title, there are several sections, each with a subject name in a box and a description of the homework. The subjects listed are Math, ELA, Reading, Spelling, S.S., and Science. The Math section includes a "Thanksgiving Review" and a note about doing 1 or 2 pages per day. The ELA section includes "10 Sentences" and a "Thanksgiving Challenge". The Reading section is empty. The Spelling section is empty. The S.S. section includes "Read + Finish Thanksgiving Brochure". The Science section is empty. There is also a note about bringing home dry erase place value and markers.
